WEST LIBERTY, MORGAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1934

WHOLE NUMBER 1239

FARMERS' COLUMN

The Farm and Home

The fact that alfalfa produced a fairly good first crop of hay, despite unfavorable weather, should encourage more farmers to grow this legume. Most other hay crops were affected by the lack of rain. Meanwhile, rain would produce another alfalfa crop and possibly two more.

If the manure dropped on pastures by animals were well scattered each winter after the grazing season is over, it would make the manure much more effective and be a decided help to the grass. A drag or harrow can be used to do the scattering.

There is still time to sow emergency hay and pasture crops. Sorghums and sweet sorghum or cane are usually sowed before July 1, but Sudan grass and cowpeas may be sowed for hay as late as July 15, and millet even later.

Special care is needed in cleaning white shoes. Surface dirt or dust should be removed with a dry cloth, and cleaner applied sparingly with a clean cloth. After the shoes have dried thoroughly they should be rubbed briskly. Cleaning off the feet is the preferable way.

The housing of implements is one of the best paying practices on the farm. This is especially true of machinery containing large amounts of wood or many moving parts. Exposure to the weather often does more damage than does the operation of the machine.

Housekeepers spend an average of 426 hours a year washing dishes, according to Miss Ida C. Hagman of the college of agriculture, university of Kentucky. She believes the job warrants more attention to equipment, kinds of dishes and other cooking utensils used, and general cleaning methods.

Rabies Prevalent

Reports of rabies in several counties have reached the department of animal pathology at the agricultural experiment station at Lexington this summer. In some instances a considerable number of animals and several persons were bitten.

When a person is bitten by a dog he should be rushed to the nearest doctor for the Pasteur treatment. If there is any probability that the dog was mad, the dog should be confined and a veterinarian called. If the dog shows symptoms suggestive of rabies it should be held two or three days for observation. If there is definite evidence that the dog has rabies it should be killed and its head sent to the public service laboratories at the agricultural experiment station, Lexington, or to the state board of health, Louisville.

Effort should be made not to injure the dog's head. Put the head in an air tight container, which should be packed in ice and sawdust in another container to keep it cold until it reaches the laboratories for examination.

Rabies may be prevented by vaccination, and all dogs worth owning should be inoculated against them. This is required in most cities, and should be universal. Such precaution would practically eliminate the dreadful disease of rabies or hydrophobia, and save the lives of hundreds of animals and many persons every year.

Insurance Features

Threat of crop destruction by drought has placed added importance on income protection features of the commodity adjustment programs which farmers of the country are carrying out under the direction of the agricultural adjustment administration. For the first time in the history of American agriculture, crop income insurance is provided on a nation-wide scale.

While designed primarily to permit crop adjustments which would bring production into line with effective demand at a fair price to the producer, the wheat, corn-hog, cotton, and tobacco adjustment programs also guarantee a definite income for those cooperating farmers whose crops have been cut down or even destroyed by drought or other forces beyond their control.

Because they are based on past production averages, the amounts of the rental or benefit payments are not diminished by current crop failure.

PLANS SCHOOL WORK

West Liberty, Ky., June 28, 1934.

To the Public:

On Saturday, June 23, 1934, the Morgan county board of education met in their regular session and Mr. James W. Davis submitted a resignation as county superintendent, and, having been previously elected, the board of education by a unanimous vote then elected me to the office of county superintendent for a four year term beginning July 1, 1934. I deeply appreciate the support of each member and I shall do my best to accomplish many things for Morgan county schools. I hope that with their assistance we will be able to make history so far as school work in this county is concerned.

I have no ill will toward anyone who saw fit to oppose my election, but they will receive the same kind and equal consideration as my supporters, as I am superintendent for the people of Morgan county and not just for my friends.

Each teacher is hereby called on to try to touch the best school possible and to cooperate with me, and I will gladly cooperate with you and will be glad to help you solve your problems, and I hope that you will help me to make a real superintendent.

When I have had a little time to acquaint myself with the work, and in the near future, I will give you a complete summary of my aims and objectives as superintendent of schools for the coming four years.

Very sincerely yours,

J. W. HANEY

VISITING IN MORGAN

Carl Edison Henry, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henry at Camp, and for several years general manager of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. at Logan, W. Va., is enjoying his vacation in his native county. He will also visit his sister, Mrs. S. S. Arnett, at Ashland, on his way back to his work. The Logan Banner, in recounting the splendid services of Mr. Henry to his company, says of him:

"Mr. Henry is a regular member of the younger set, and has been connected with his company since 1920, when he came to Logan to take over the management of the A. & P. store on Stratton street. About a year later the company opened the store on 14th street and Mr. Henry has been its manager since that time. The but 26 years old, Mr. Henry has proven himself to be an alert, wide awake business man, and to him can be attributed much of the company's increasing success and popularity in Logan. His present personnel consists of Alex Nagay, assistant to Mr. Henry, Trimble Gilliam, meat manager, Barbara Kovace, Kermit Simms, and Eddie Blair.

Mr. Henry is sociable, likable, and a good mixer. His engaging smile and winning personality have made for him many staunch and loyal friends."

Visiting in Kentucky

W. G. Wells and son Victor, of Middletown, Ohio, arrived in the county Wednesday and went to Woodbend to visit Mr. Wells' daughter, Mrs. Bessie Harlow, and family. Thursday they all went to Tovalet to visit other relatives before returning to Middletown. Mr. Wells is a native Morgan county man and keeps informed of and interested in affairs here. He is looking fine and carrying the years lightly which are being added to his store.

NOTICE

My wife, Mary, has left my bed and board, and notice is hereby given to all concerned not to extend credit to her on my account. (Adv.)

W. B. MAY, West Liberty, Ky.

In cases of serious drought damage this year, benefit payments thru the adjustment act to farmers signing contracts will represent a substantial part of their total farm income. These assured payments guarantee that a cooperating farmer will have some income, even tho his crop fails entirely.

The commodity adjustment programs have been so planned that they are flexible enough to meet such unusual situations as that created by the drought in many sections. They protect the producer from being crippled, thru complete loss of income, in his efforts to renew production when the immediate failure has passed.

Again the People Lose

After a two and a half years' fight, said: "Give me a hundred jobs and I will control any legislature." As the selfish politicians surrounding him finally were successful in imposing a general sales tax on the people of Kentucky.

Thus another long struggle between the people and the politicians ends, and, as usual, the people lose and the politicians win.

I made to force a sales tax thru the regular session of the 1932 legislature or the special session of 1933, the governor announced he would take the fight to the voters and stump the state in favor of his pet scheme.

Finally, however, that his speech only increased the overwhelming sentiment opposed to such a form of taxation, he soon abandoned his tour and announced that he "was not wedded to the sales tax idea."

But the voters of Kentucky took his statement with a grain of salt and carried on the fight against the sales tax into the election of members of the 1934 legislature.

As far as is known, not a single open advocate of the sales tax survived the storm of opposing votes. A few dodged or evaded the issue and slipped in, but when the 1934 legislature convened 81 of the 104 members of the house and 21 of the 39 members of the senate were on record as pledged to their constituents to vote against a sales tax in any form.

In spite of this overwhelming majority in both branches, the governor and his cohorts eventually were successful in passing a sales tax. How they were able to persuade so many of the representatives and senators to enact the role of Benedict Arnold only time will tell.

In this connection it is significant to recall a boast made by the governor in Louisville some sixteen or seventeen months ago. He is reported to have said:

DESERVED PRAISE

The Courier is proud of the opportunity to reprint from a Republican paper the following deserved praise of a native son of Morgan county, in an editorial on the passage of the sales tax:

"Right here let the editor of the Gazette take off his hat to Steve Pieratt, the Democratic representative from Montgomery county. HE KEEPS HIS WORD! THE PEOPLE. If this state had more men in public office like Steve Pieratt, Kentucky would not be fifteen million dollars in debt, and no man would hold public office whose word was not as good as his bond. All honor to Steve Pieratt. He proved himself to be a man of the courage of his convictions, and with 'guts' enough to stand for what he believed was right. We have no doubt but that Steve Pieratt could have gotten promises of plenty of jobs had he been willing to betray his people. But he could not be approached."

—Mr. Sterling Gazette.

Morgan county John Montgomery county in paying tribute to a worthy son. He has been true to the traditions of his family and the traditions of his native county. There is more honor in being an honest man than there is in securing any job.

Fourth Quarterly Conference

Dr. V. L. Moore will preach in the Methodist church Sunday night. The business session will be held following the sermon. Special importance is attached to this last quarterly conference of the year, and every member is urged to be present. This will be Dr. Moore's last visit to us in the capacity of presiding elder, due to the ruling made at the recent general conference that no presiding elder be allowed to serve on a district more than four consecutive years. The pastor will preach at the morning service at 11 o'clock. The evening service will begin at 7:45. Everyone invited.

Ice Cream Party

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Wells entertained Saturday night with an ice cream party, honoring their guest, Miss Vaughn Hyton of Monaville, W. Va. Games and music were the diversion of the evening. Ice cream and lemonade were served at a late hour. All departed declaring they had never spent a more delightful evening.

The brain works best when the tongue is at rest.

PUBLIC NOTICE

To the Democrats of the 8th and 9th congressional districts of Kentucky:

I am a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the primary election on Saturday, August 1, 1934, and will appreciate your support.

1. If elected, I will support President Roosevelt in his continued effort to place the country on a sound financial, economic and social basis.

2. The expense of government must be curtailed if the burden of taxation is to be lightened. As the first step in that direction, the basic salaries of representatives in congress and U. S. senators should be reduced from $10,000 to $7,500 annually. The last mentioned amount was the salary paid during the period of the world's highest prices, it shall therefore fight to the last ditch to bring about such reduction.

3. I favor an Old Age Pension law and will do all in my power to secure the enactment of same.

4. I will give the ex-servicemen the same character of anti-trust service that I gave them when formerly a member of congress, and will exert my efforts to restore with the least possible delay every just and equitable pension and compensation claim.

5. Tobacco, the chief money crop of Kentucky, is bearing an unfair proportion of the burden of taxation. The tobacco tax should be reduced and a sales system created by law that will guarantee to the grower a fair price, and I shall use every honorable means at my command to accomplish these results.

6. If returned to congress I shall refrain, as I have always done, from any effort or attempt to be a political boss, and will not meddle in local politics; nor will I discriminate between Democratic candidates for party nominations who have been equally loyal to me. (Adv.)

VINSON SEEKS NOMINATION

On page two of this paper is printed the regular announcement of Congressman Fred M. Vinson for the Democratic nomination as congressman from the eighth Kentucky district.

Mr. Vinson has served the district for several terms with credit to himself and honor to the district. He is in the prime of life, fearless in the defense of duty, and always on the alert for the best interests of the people of the counties comprising his district. If Mr. Vinson is nominated and reelected he will continue the faithful servant he has been.

BEAUTY PAGEANT

The American Legion Holly Coffee Post no. 48, will sponsor a pageant to be presented at the West Liberty school auditorium on Tuesday night, July 10 at 7:30.

This pageant will consist of Morgan county girls and a program of music and novelty numbers will also be arranged for the same night. Similar pageants are being conducted throughout the state of Kentucky under the auspices of various American Legion posts.

The most beautiful girl will be selected to represent Holly Coffee Post at the ninth American Legion district beauty pageant to be held at Morehead July 19.

This pageant will be under the direction of Miss La Nohle Britton, who will arrive here Sunday. It was announced by the post adjutant, J. Elaine Nickell.

NEW SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

At a meeting of the Morgan county board of education on Saturday of last week, Prof. Dan Haney was elected superintendent of schools of Morgan county for the four year term beginning July 1.

At a meeting of the board some months ago Jas. W. Davis had been reelected on the condition that he could qualify. It was found, however, that the new school code just recently passed required college training for a superintendent, which Mr. Davis did not have. Mr. Davis at the meeting Saturday handed the board his resignation, and the board then elected Mr. Haney.

Mr. Haney is a native of Morgan county and for the last few years has been principal of the Wayland high school, succeeding Prof. J. G. Long at that place.

Mr. Haney married a popular Floyd county girl and they have a son about a year old. They will establish a home in West Liberty and Mr. Haney will take up his duties promptly.

Photographs on Fabric

An exceedingly simple method of making photographic pictures on fabric has been devised. A patented solution is spread on a piece of fabric and the print made from it. In the same manner as is usually used in making photographs, but differing from the other method, the picture is complete and finished with this exposure. No special lighting whatever is required.

Scotland Gets Old Reliquary

The famous 1,200-year-old Monymusk reliquary is to become a national possession of Scotland, and will be displayed in the National Museum of Antiquities in Edinburgh. It was purchased by the National art-collectors fund for $12,500. Among the contributors was Prime Minister MacDonald. In ancient times the custodian of the reliquary carried it with the sacred robes of St. Columba before the Scottish armies when they went into battle. It was carried thus on the field of Bannockburn in 1314.

Attendance at Oak Hill Sunday school last Sunday was better than was ever known. Over 200 were present, and a good interest was shown. The small girls in the junior class sang a special song for the Sunday school. Next Sunday they will sing "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be."

A lively and interesting ball game is being held each Sunday immediately after Sunday school, on the Oak Hill diamond. We have been watching some very interesting games between the old ball team which has played for years and the young boys from 15 to 25 years of age. Last Sunday the old team left with a sad look on their faces, resolving never to play ball again, for they were defeated by the boys by a score of 9 to 1. But they took on new courage this week, for they came back Sunday afternoon with smiles on their faces saying they were going to win. And sure enough they did. The score was 7 to 1 in favor of the old team. Come on, boys, we know you'll win next Sunday. Come out and watch our ball games, RED

Wedding bells have rung once more in our neighborhood. Ernest Robinson of Adde and Miss Smith, a girl Mrs. Allison Rose got from the home, were married Friday. Bro. Dick Tolson tied the knot. We wish them success in their undertaking. Married life is not all roses. There are lots of thorns in these hard times. NANCY

Ows Is All to Polyys

The action of small animals known as coral polyys was responsible for the formation of large groups of islands in many parts of the Pacific ocean, while large deposits of lime-stone rock also owe their origin to these minute creatures.
